The four-story hotel offers 125 rooms and suites and 2,500 square feet of meeting space.

Hilton did not disclose the cost of opening the hotel.

The hotel company also recently opened three other Hilton Garden Inn properties, with two in Texas and one in North Carolina.

“Each of these destinations offers unique local experiences that attract travelers, making them ideal locations for our upscale, affordable hotels,” said John Greenleaf, global head, Hilton Garden Inn. “As our footprint grows in the U.S. and elsewhere, we strive to provide accommodations that enable guests to get the most out of the cities they are visiting while offering the global brand consistency they expect from any of our 700+ Hilton Garden Inn hotels.”

There are 13 Hilton Garden Inn properties in Arizona.
