Hilton Garden Inn Fort Walton Beach

Hilton Garden Inn, established by global hospitality company Hilton Worldwide in the 1990s, falls in the upscale yet affordable brand category. The brand's identity centers on accommodating guests' desire to explore and connect while on the road—and highly desirable amenities, both brand- and location-specific, play a big role in the experience. “At Hilton Garden Inn, we are committed to providing guests with upscale amenities and attentive service that ensures a bright and satisfying experience, whether traveling for business or pleasure,” John Greenleaf, global head, Hilton Garden Inn, said in a prepared statement.

Each of the four new hotels has something special to offer. In Florida, the 178-key Hilton Garden Inn Fort Walton Beach made its debut on Okaloosa Island. In addition to views of the Gulf of Mexico from its beachfront position, the property offers a lazy river with rock waterfalls. The 144-key Hilton Garden Inn Grand Rapids East features, for starters, a pool in the shape of the State of Michigan. Hilton Garden Inn Pittsburgh Airport, encompassing 139 guestrooms just a half-mile from Robert Morris University in Moon Township, Pa., offers an outdoor fire pit among its list of enticements. The 165-key Hilton Garden Inn Roslyn, sited in the Long Island harbor area, offers a premier waterfront location just east of New York City, as well as the long list of amenities that come standard with the Hilton Garden Inn brand, including: in-room Keurig coffeemakers; 24-hour fitness facility; cooked-to-order breakfast, lunch and dinner; full-service bar; 24-hour business center; swimming pool; and flexible meeting spaces.
